Protect Yourself & Your Family From Flea-borne Typhus

Do:

Use flea control
on pets

Keep a clean and maintained home

Avoid:

Providing resting places
for flea-carrying animals

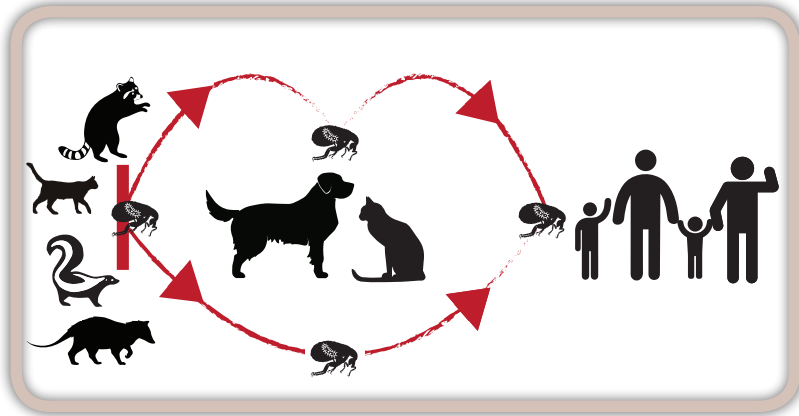

Feeding wildlife

Fleas Can Spread Typhus

Many animals can carry infected fleas in and around your home

Common symptoms appear two weeks after contact with infected flea:

- Fever and chills
- Body aches
- Nausea and vomiting

Severe cases may damage liver, heart, lungs and kidneys
